Photosynthesis is the process by which plants convert light into chemical energy.
Osmosis refers to the movement of water across a semipermeable membrane.
The mitochondria produces most of the cell’s supply of ATP through respiration.
A cell is the basic structural and functional unit of all living organisms.
Chlorophyll absorbs sunlight and gives plants their green appearance.
Enzymes are proteins that speed up chemical reactions in living things.